

ANCIENT WHALE TOWN COSTUMES IN PICTURE

Quaint customs as well as quaint costumes of a century ago are picturesquely revived in Elmer Clifton's super photoplay production, "Down to the Sea in Ships," released as a special feature by the Hookinson Corporation, which is at the Glendale theater until July 4. The memory of days in the quiet and peaceful whaling village of New Bedford, Mass., has been conveyed in the silver screen in a series of picturizations which vividly recall the thrills, romance and adventure of the early days of that now rapidly decadent industry, the hunt for whales. Aside from its wholesome heart interest, "Down to the Sea in Ships" will serve as a faithful record for the coming generations of an industry compared with which there has never been a simile.

Garbed in treasured gowns of the long ago, many of them heirlooms handed down through several generations, many of the still prominent Quakeresses of New Bedford lent their aid in providing a realistic setting and background for this picture, unlike anything that has hitherto been produced for the silent drama. Even the quaint, drab though picturesque, meeting house used by the New Bedford Quakers for more than 100 years was utilized, including a faithful reproduction of a Quaker marriage ceremony, presided over by genuine members of the sect, and carried out with all the solemnity with which the service was solemnized since the earliest days of the faith.

When Mr. Clifton, with the aid of a coterie of New Bedford citizens, who wished to preserve for all time a faithful reproduction of the industry which put the little Massachusetts port town on the map, reached a decision to produce "Down to the Sea in Ships," they had the difficulty in persuading the quietest Quakeresses to lend their assistance. Treasures, chests, long since forgotten, were resurrected from dusty and cobwebbed attics and garrets. Gowns, the pride of their wearers in the long ago, were retrieved, quaint little knickknacks and mementoes were brought to light and not a single detail overlooked that would aid in providing a most realistic setting for this super-picture.

ART ASSOCIATION HEARS M'CLAUSKEY ON PORTRAIT WORK

Members of the Glendale Art association, of which Mrs. Roy Balogh is president, spent a most delightful hour with William McClauskey, a veteran and master portrait painter, at the regular meeting held Sunday afternoon at the public library on Harvard street.

In his talk Mr. McClauskey stated "the life in each one of us is trying to express the beautiful in some way, and the fewer human needs we have the better we are equipped to give our individual attention to our chosen expression. In painting a portrait I become intimately acquainted with the sitter's most cherished aims and desires and therefore bring out their personality, which differentiates one person from another."

Mr. McClauskey also remarked that Glendale is to be congratulated on its advance in cultural things and its splendid clubs. He brought out the fact that in having an art association and then an art school the people of Glendale were laying a splendid foundation for fine art achievements. The city of Philadelphia was almost 100 years old before it had an art association," he stated.

Mr. McClauskey is the official portrait painter of the Hollywood Post of the American Legion and gave an interesting account of his appointment.

THOUSAND WAYS TO CATCH HAY FEVER

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2 (U. P.)—Pity the poor hay fever sufferer. He catches it a thousand different ways.

Doctors at the American Medical association convention here told the awful details. They exhibited or named 1,000 plants, maybe a few more or less, which will give hay fever to those folks who are susceptible.

Another interesting item before the convention was the statement of Dr. Kate Campbell Hurd Mead, child specialist, that a baby must be petted to be healthy. A child simply must be cuddled, she said. It must play. The healthiest child is the one most loved, for it thrives on love. The modern theory that babies are mere animals needing heat and food and nothing else is all rot, Dr. Mead says.

Among other interesting revelations of the convention was the statement by Dr. C. Tomme of New York, who says he tries out all his remedies on himself, before trying anything new on a patient.

MRS. BALLAGH IS HOSTESS TO ART FOLKS OF CITY

Mrs. Roy Ballagh of 202 West Doran street was hostess to the members of the Glendale Art association, of which she is president, at a pleasant social evening at her home on Saturday.

A very interesting program was given by Glendale artists and included numbers by H. S. Robinson, of 770 North Central avenue, who is soloist for the First Methodist Church of Los Angeles. He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Dermoux of Hollywood. Keamoku A. Lewis, of 373 West California street, who is well-known in musical and Masonic circles, gave several beautiful selections. Mr. and Mrs. McDade, talented musicians, recently coming to Glendale from the east, gave generously of their talent. Mrs. McDade has a splendid soprano voice and is also a violinist. She was accompanied at the piano by her husband.

Another accomplished artist was Mrs. Russell, who was formerly with George Arliss in "Disraeli." She gave two interesting readings, "The Master's Violin" and "The One-Legged Goose," a negro dialect. Those attending the social meeting of the association were thoroughly appreciative of the fact that the people of Glendale have reason to be proud of the number of talented people who have chosen this city in which to make their home.

Public Invited to Club Card Parties

That there may be no misunderstanding in regard to the entirely informal card parties which are to be given to the general public Tuesday afternoons throughout the summer months in the parlors of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse from 2 to 4, Mrs. Thomas G. Widmeyer, who will have charge of these functions, states they will be open to all who choose to come at the small fee of 25c, that punch will be served and prizes for bridge and "500" awarded. At the close of the series a major prize will be given the player making the highest total score.

As this will afford opportunity to easily and delightfully entertain friends, it is probable the parties will prove very popular.

Stampede Nearly Ruins Production of New Ince Film

An impromptu "wild west show," put on by a number of sure-enough cowboys, almost destroyed some of the finest scenes of a cattle stampede which is one of the exciting incidents in Thomas H. Ince's "What a Wife Learned," to be shown at the P. D. L. theatre tomorrow and Wednesday.

John Bowers, as the hero who steps in the path of the stampede and turns the cattle aside, was particularly anxious to get the scenes out of the way, for several times when he had stepped manfully forth and waved the excited animals aside they had indicated a disregard for their cue that was painful.

It was just at sunset time and the last "close-up" of the hero and the rushing cattle had been filmed finally to entire satisfaction. Suddenly there was a wild whoop and across the fields dashed a dozen cowboys, brandishing their Stetsons at the horses and making them buck, whirling lariats, shooting their revolvers in the air.

Wearied of sitting on the side lines and watching the "actresses" perform, the cowboys of the ranch had decided to stage a little entertainment of their own and promptly organized an informal rodeo. With all Nevada to ride over, of course they had to choose a path that brought them tearing down on Bowers, John Griffith Wray, the director, and Henry Sharp, the photographer.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Abell, formerly of 3444 Atwater avenue, who leased their home on account of Mr. Abell's continued illness, have taken up their temporary residence at 1732 Opus Way, since recovery of health and return to the city.

JACKSON REPORTS TO POSTOFFICE FORCE ON TRIP

In Bulletin He Describes His Visit to the San Francisco Conference

A copy of the statement on his visit to the San Francisco postal convention, apparently prepared for the employees of the Glendale postoffice, was given to the Glendale Daily Press today for publication. It follows:

The postal conference convention, held in San Francisco, was, in my opinion, a great success. While this is a new departure in the postal department, I feel that it should continue and is commendable.

There seems to be a little misunderstanding as to the direct object of these state conventions. One of the objects of the conference convention and the main object is to bring into personal contact the department officials, the field officers and the postal workers of the state with the large representatives of the business organizations in the state.

Various grouped meetings are planned to embrace all branches of the service, such as group meetings for postmasters, others for supervisors, others for carriers, clerks, rural route carriers, railway mail service and, in fact, all branches of the great postal system. In these group meetings, all matters are brought up in the form of recommendations and a committee is selected to condense them and place them before the convention proper. They are of particular interest to the postal workers, more so than the business men, as matters entirely foreign to the ordinary patron of the postoffice are discussed from every viewpoint with those thoroughly familiar with postal conditions and who come in daily contact with problems of the government that require careful study.

The representatives from this office were as follows: Myself, assistant postmaster; Mr. Hunt, foreman, and Mr. Woods, representative of the carriers. Through the cooperation of our Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Hallett was also sent to the convention to represent the Chamber of Commerce.

When we entered the convention, Glendale was a small spot somewhere in California, but when we left, it was a great big splash, observable from all parts of the state of California. I feel that our office was very well represented; in fact, we had the largest representation on the percentage basis of any office in Southern California, and received the recognition due us.

It was very gratifying to hear the name of Glendale mentioned several times in the address of the Hon. John H. Bartlett, and in a highly favorable manner. This was due in a great extent to the fact that your postmaster had the honor and privilege of an afternoon's visit with our honorable chief, at which time it was his honest endeavor to thoroughly introduce him to the "fastest growing city in America," and acquaint him with its various interests. It was also my pleasure to introduce to the Hon. Irving H. Glover, third assistant postmaster general, a wonderfully witty and creditable representative of the department, who, by the way, came from my home city in New Jersey.

There will probably be a report published in the Bulletin shortly, so I will not go into detail concerning various recommendations made to the department particularly to Glendale, but to the general betterment of the service especially on the Pacific coast.

It was my endeavor to have representation at every conference held, which was rather a difficult matter, but we feel that the most vital and important points were thoroughly covered and the results of this convention will be felt and appreciated throughout California and the west.

We have been authorized, as you know, to obtain bids for new quarters. This authorization was due to the untiring efforts of our supervisors who took the matter up thoroughly from every viewpoint, endeavoring, if possible, to obtain a federal building. When we were thoroughly convinced that same was not possible at this time, we exerted our efforts in the direction of new leased quarters. Our efforts were finally crowned with success.

The Federal building is on the way and I feel that we will get early consideration when the Federal buildings are awarded. According to the personal statement of the first assistant postmaster-general, there are two locations that are at the present time to receive Federal buildings, and they are the Ferry station at San Francisco, and Oakland, California.

The matters discussed at the postmasters' group convention were along the lines of proposed improvement, and the group meetings attended by the various supervisors and representatives of this office were along other lines, particularly the welfare of the employees in general who come under their direct supervision.

I will say that I am proud of my entire organization in the Glendale postoffice, and from my conversation with various postmasters whom it was my privilege to meet, I feel that my pride is thoroughly warranted. My only request is that I may still retain that spirit of loyalty and co-operation that has placed Glendale, California, before the entire postal world as the "fastest growing postoffice in the fastest growing city of America."

D. RIPLEY JACKSON,
Postmaster.

REV. W. E. EDMONDS AT PRESBYTERIAN

The message at the Glendale Presbyterian church yesterday morning was a continuation of the popular "summer Sunday sermons" and the title was "The Still Small Voice" (a sound of gentle stillness), from the two Old Testament texts, I Kings 19:11-13 and 19:15.

In part Rev. W. E. Edmonds said: "In this subject we have a most beautiful expression and it has almost come to be recognized as one of the names of the Holy Spirit. The whole scene occurs at the climax of Elijah's marvelous ministry. The whole nation has been awayed at his will, even the king is helpless as a child at his bidding. He is easily the most talked of man in all the kingdom. But there is another heart in Israel as thoroughly possessed of the devil as the heart of Elijah is possessed by the Holy Spirit. When Jezebel hears of Elijah's wonderful doings on Mount Carmel she threatens his life. Then Elijah flees to the utmost confines of the kingdom: Lying down under the juniper trees he cries out 'Lord, take away my life for I am no better than my fathers.' But God touched his weary prophet and he slept and when he awakens God feeds him by angel hands until he is strong enough to go forth and stand upon the mount before he had felt his life a failure. The Lord passed by in a great and mighty wind. Then the rocks are rent asunder. This is followed by a wonderful fire from the Lord. But the Lord was not in the wind or the earthquake or the fire. Then comes an awful, yet gentle stillness, a strange still small voice softer than evening hills, sweeter than a mother's lullaby, gentler than music's tenderest notes. Elijah creeps into a cave and falls upon his face before God. The stern prophet of Carmel is like a little child. What is the meaning of all this drama?

Elijah's lesson was that he needed to be quiet, he needed to know the mighty power of gentleness. God cannot speak to us amid the noise and turmoil of life. His voice is the still small voice of the Holy Spirit in the soul.

A further lesson to use is that we are no longer under the law terrors of Sinai. The law made nothing perfect. The whirlwind, earthquake and fire are gone but the still small voice of Calvary and Pentecost is speaking to millions of hearts. The Holy Spirit is speaking to our conscience, the still small voice of the soul.

"How great the power of stillness. In the busiest life there may be a place where we dwell alone with God in eternal stillness. This is the only way to know God. Another kind of stillness. The enemies of Christ did their worst. His power was silence. In stillness God gives us this silent power, this mighty self-surrender, this conquered spirit. Like us Elijah was looking forward to better things. The crowning day is coming. Heaven is not far away when believing hearts fellowship together. O, that marvelous moment when the dead in Christ shall rise first."

Most people meander down the path of life and never realize their own unimportance. This, probably, is a good thing.

To have what you want is wealth; to do without it is power.

REV. DR. FUNK AT LUTHERAN CHURCH

Speaking on the subject, "Under the Shadow of the Almighty," Dr. Funk declared yesterday at the First Lutheran church that "God is ever with His people. He does not need to be brought down from heaven. Nor yet does He need to be brought out of the depths beneath. He has not gone off on a journey, or on a vacation, that we must await His return. God is possessed of unlimited power, and pervades all being with His presence. When Moses beheld the burning bush he bared his feet in acknowledgment of the presence of Jehovah, and Jacob, with only a stone for a pillow, cried out, 'Surely this is the gate of heaven, as he awoke from his sleep.'

"And yet, although He is ever near, how little do we seem to realize it. We call upon Him in the sanctuary, and we go to and fro from the House of Prayer; but even here to many He is only a shadow, the tradition of one who once communed with men."

"The condition for securing the abiding presence of our Lord is a life of holy communion with Him. Thus we say in the third article of the Creed, 'I believe in the communion of saints.' He that dwelleth in the secret place of the Most High; that is to say, he who acquaints himself with God, who through faith, by an act of decision, chooses God for his guardian, will find Him all he may need, and all can desire. Yea, verily, God Himself will be his continual habitation, a place whither he may always find rest for his soul."

REV. SWANEY AT NAZARENE TENT

"A Mighty Savior" was the subject of the sermon preached by Rev. L. E. Swaney at the Nazarene tent Sunday evening. The text was taken from Isaiah 63:1, and reads: "Who is this that cometh from Bozrah, with garments dyed, mighty to save." This was said by many, who have been at every service since the opening of the campaign to be one of the strongest and most eloquent sermons that Rev. Swaney has preached. Practically every seat in the tent was filled at the service last night. The musical program included a selection by the Scheideman-Hull quartet, and a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hull. Rev. Swaney is said by many to be one of the most powerful preachers they have ever heard. There will be services every night this week at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Charles Newman is at the piano each evening, having taken the place of Mrs. Warren West, who is attending the Holiness camp meeting at Santa Monica, Pacific Palisade. Miss Lura Leason is doing splendid work with the violin. Come out tonight.

HAITI TO EXPORT PINEAPPLES

PORT-AU-PRINCE, July 2.—A concession for the canning and export of pineapples has been awarded by the Haitian Council of State to an American company. While Haiti raises large quantities of pineapples none have been exported in the history of the island.

Some men are like doormats—useful only for others to walk on.

An Offer to the City Council

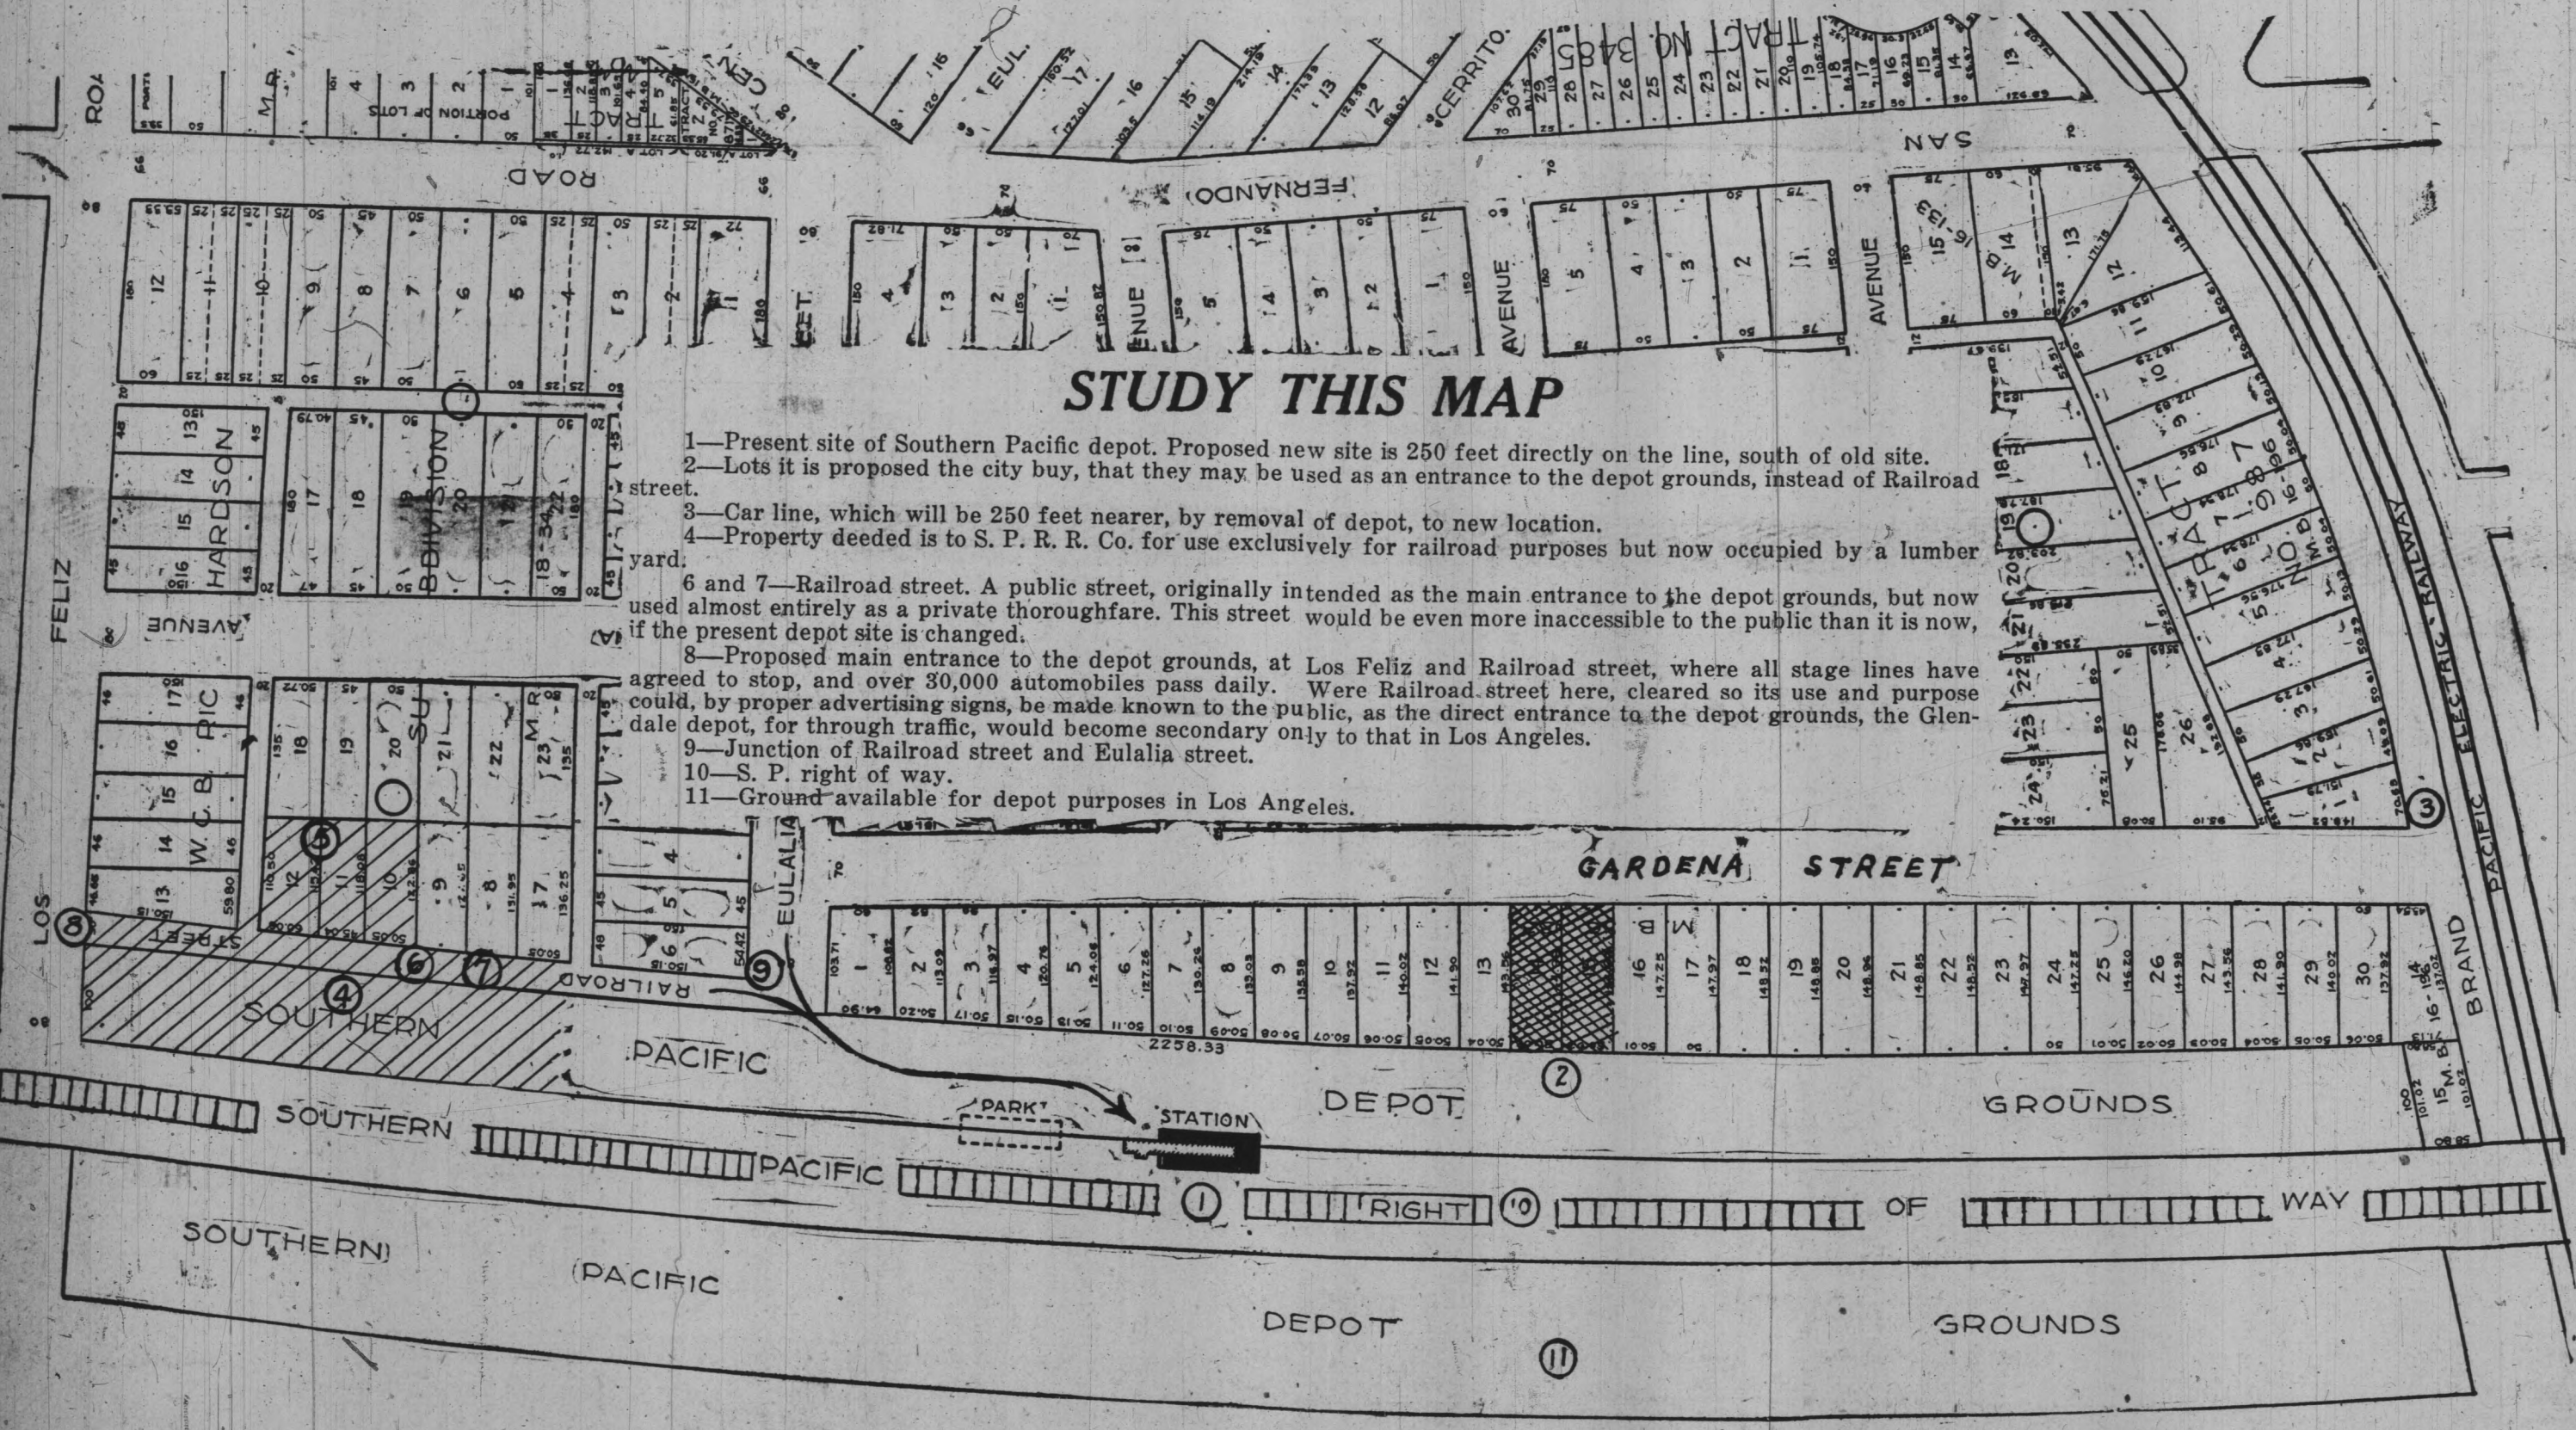

If you think the Cerritos street lots NECESSARY for the depot site, let our association help pay for them, so they will not cost the taxpayers a penny.

But the opening of Cerritos street to depot grounds, the street widening and the corner buying is part of the plan suggested by the Chamber of Commerce, which will cost the taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars, before the scheme of diverting traffic from Los Feliz road, and attention from the present use of Railroad street, is finished. And it would principally benefit the value of certain corner lots and other holdings, in that locality that have lately changed hands.

The part of the scheme which would make Glendale the laughing stock of Southern California is the abandoning of Railroad street to the continued use of a lumber yard, though it is the direct road to either of the depot sites planned (they are only about 250 feet apart).

If Railroad street were now open, and in proper condition, ninety per cent of the depot traffic would probably go straight down that street to the depot. For over thirty thousand automobiles a day pass this "front door" to the depot grounds, while probably less than a hundred pass the Cerritos street lots, it has been proposed the city buy, as an entrance to the depot grounds.

It has been claimed that because the largest theatre in Glendale has been planned to be erected on Los Feliz road, between Central Avenue and San Fernando Road, that was the reason for the fight for restoring Railroad street to the public. This is not so, as the building of this theatre has been postponed, because of the present high cost of building material. Meanwhile the splendid new Gateway theatre will supply the needs of this neighborhood.

OUR OFFER

We will subscribe liberally to a fund for the purchase of the Cerritos street lots, so that their purchase may not cost the taxpayers one cent, and

We will start a subscription towards the improving and opening of Railroad street to the public as an entrance to the depot grounds, with a minimum sum of five hundred dollars, provided—

The above offers are subject to the provision, that the opening of Cerritos street will not be a blind for the continued closing of Railroad street—and whatever plans are adopted must be passed on by a committee of disinterested taxpayers, who will place the good of Glendale above every other consideration, and work in harmony with the city planning commission's report of June 29, 1923.

How will "Uncle Sam" Celebrate July 4th?

THE WINNERS

This contest has attracted more real interest than any of a similar nature put on by the Glendale Daily Press in a long time, and the answers submitted would make a good sized book. The funny pictures made of Uncle Sam would also equal many of the comic supplements, were it possible for us to reproduce them in this issue.

The First Prize of $3.00 was won by Robert Price, 131 South Isabel street, Glendale.

The Second Prize of $2.00 was won by little Miss Wanda Gates, 1130 East Colorado, Glendale.

Not one of the dozens of answers submitted gave the correct picture as it appears above. There was some decided variation, but the above winners were the closest to the picture, Robert Price making only two mistakes, namely, placing the eyebrows and hat. Miss Gates made three mistakes. You can figure them out. Checks will be mailed the winners.

EXPANSION OF MUSIC CLUB IS ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Jones Tells of New Activities to Be in Year's Work

At the conclusion of the dinner prepared for the Glendale Music club and its guests at the Tuesday afternoon club Friday night by a group of Tuesday club members under Mrs. Midmyre, which was followed by the fine program of speeches and music announced beforehand, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president and toastmistress, outlined new activities for the coming year, stating that until now the club has not felt in a position to arrange for departmental work except such as has been carried on by the junior and juvenile auxiliaries. The following sections will, however, be inaugurated:

Artist section, under Miss Gertrude Cleophas, club member, a section expected to provide the club with at least one "made-in-Glendale" program during the year. Creative section, under Mrs. James H. Ballagh.

Teachers' Round Table, led by Mrs. Eva Cunningham.

New committee chairmen were announced as follows: Parliamentary law, Mrs. Opal Greenwald; courtesy, Mrs. Charles L. Marlenee; hospitality, Mrs. Colin Cable. Mrs. Jones stated that if 200 patron members at $10 can be added to the club, representing two tickets for each patron membership, it will be possible to secure the great American baritone, Cecil Fanning, and a number of other famous young American artists, to supplement the fine programs to be had from such artists as had

Foley's Friendly Fancies

COURAGE

Don't give up; the way be long and trying;
The days be hot and weary and the load is hard to bear;
Don't give up; it's not the time for crying
When everything is darkest and no hope seems anywhere.
Don't give up; the clouds be hanging o'er you,
The bitter winds be blowing and the trouble never done;
Don't give up; for the good time's just before you
When all the troubles clear away and victor is won.

JAMES W. FOLEY

Don't give up; what enemies may fight you,
Up and at them once again and give them blows for blows.
Don't give up; for only towards do it,
Grit your teeth and smile again and stoutly plug along;
Don't give up; but fight a clear way through it,
What the trial or trouble be, and match it with a song.

Don't give up; no matter how you're broken,
Bruised and battered, maimed and scarred, it's time for courage then.
Don't give up; by every word and token
Of every good, stout fighting man, get up and fight again.
Don't give up; you're licked, but don't admit it;
And till you do you won't be licked, no matter what they say;
Don't give up; don't fear the fight or quit it;
Up again and on again and you will win the day.

furnished the program of the evening.

As stated in the Saturday report of the banquet concert, the silver trophy for heading the list of those who had rounded up new members for the club was won by Mrs. Eva Cunningham with a record of 31. 13 of whom she enrolled Tuesday, one on the way to the dinner.

As reported by Mrs. Warren Roberts, the drive has brought into the club 200 new members, bringing the total membership of the club to date to about 700. As the drive will be continued to August 1, it is hoped the total can be increased to 1,000, which will not only enable the club to use the Tuesday club auditorium, but will make possible the engagement of a very high order of talent.

The 57 patron members reported by Mrs. Roberts were: Mesdames Charles H. Toll, Daniel Campbell, Mattison B. Jones, Warren Roberts, Nathan Rigdon, Helen Campbell, Percy Praelux, Dora L. Gibson, C. L. Marlenee, Frank Arnold, Calvin Whiting, E. W. Kinney, Frankie Webb, Alexander Mitchell, K. E. Chase, Spencer Robinson, John Allen Legge, C. L. Peckham, Catherine Shank, C. L. Hill, Charles B. Haines, E. R. Ripley, Frank Wester, Stephen Packer, R. L. Holland, Mary J. Brooks, J. Fred Bender, Messrs. S. R. Black and James H. Woods; Misses Myrtle Baldwin, Winifred Jones, Carol Duncan, Mr. J. J. Harlan, and Mesdames H. B. Lockwood, Arthur Cross, D. Ford McCormick, Marie A. Larkey, J. E. Eckles, Joseph Marple, C. C.

Cooper, E. W. Patutzke, G. M. Taylor, W. Paul, A. L. Bryant and Mrs. William P. McMullin.

The guest table at which speakers were seated was especially lovely in its floral decoration, which consisted of great jars of red dahlias interspersed with baskets of old fashioned flowers in great variety, all from the garden of Mrs. W. H. Wallace, who will be the chairman of the club's committee on decorations the coming year.

Officers who will serve the club and its auxiliaries the coming year, as announced and introduced, are: President, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones; first vice-president, Mrs. Nathan Rigdon; second vice-president, Mrs. Dora Gibson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Helen Campbell; assistant corresponding secretary, Mrs. Myrtle Praelux; treasurer, Mrs. Warren Roberts; financial secretary, Mrs. Percy Praelux; auditor, Mrs. F. H. Wallace; historian, Mrs. Alex Mitchell. Directors—Mrs. Calvin Whiting, Mrs. Eva Cunningham, Mr. Francis Henry, Mrs. Chas. Marlenee, Mrs. E. W. RESOLUTION NO. 1996

A RESOLUTION OF THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE ORDERING CERTAIN IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE ON PORTIONS OF DRYDEN STREET, 2440 E. BROADWAY, AND OF CERTAIN STREETS AND ALLEYS INTERSECTING AND TERMINATING THEREWITH IN THE CITY OF GLENDALE.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE:

FAN DAYS COME WITH SUMMER

Now is the time to talk about electric fans. For three months, wherever there is a fan, be it of the palm cup size or the ceiling size, a continual buzz will be noticeable and a stir into the air will be felt.

"When you stand on a high cliff and watch the wind toss the limbs of the pines until it looks like a man desperately waving a flag, you will know how our fans work," says N. P. Scott, proprietor of the Broadway Electric Shop, 202 East Broadway.

Mr. Scott purchased the Broadway Electric Shop a week ago from P. R. Kennedy. He is making a specialty of electric fans during the warm weather, carrying two of the reliable makes in all styles and sizes.

A large assortment of shades, lamp brackets and electrical appliances of many descriptions will be found here, attractively displayed.

SUMMERTIME IS FURNITURE TIME

Very fine values in grass furniture for the shady front porch or sun parlor are to be found at the Hunt & Bowers furniture store, 117 South Brand boulevard, Glendale. Prices offered during July and August on furniture are at their lowest pitch, and therefore the bulk of furniture selling falls upon these two months. Courteous and prompt service will be accorded the customer at Hunt & Bowers, and goods will be found to be displayed in such a manner that the items desired can easily be located.

Kimball and Wilton rugs in many sizes and designs are also offered at attractive prices, and almost any single piece of furniture can be procured at moderate prices.
